

RRNN Activity Participation Policy

Prospective members may attend each function only once prior to joining. (Bylaws Article III, Section 3.A.) After that, only members whose dues are current may participate. Memberships are enforced as expired after the renewal date shown in the Member Profile. Non-renewing members are not considered prospective members and are not allowed to attend functions except those held at the two venues specified in the Exceptions paragraph below. Out-of-town guests of members are welcome if space is available.

Activity Leader Responsibility. Activity leaders are responsible for verifying that participants/players are current RRNN members; this includes removing names of those who are not members from invitation lists. If a substitute is needed, preference must first be given to RRNN members. For up-to-date member information, refer to the current Member Directory.

Exceptions. Two venues are exceptions: (1) Barnes & Noble, which requires our Book Discussion group be open to the public; and (2) the Allen R. Baca Center which requires that activities of non-rent-paying groups be open to the public (Baca members as well as walk-in participants).
